THE U-22 continues Bremont's association with the military, and came into being when the brand was commissioned to update the original U-2. This new piece nods to its aviation roots, complete with an updated date display and perfectly legible dial.

WE WERE excited to see what one of our favourite brands had to offer us, and luckily we weren't disappointed. The Minimatik is still classic Nomos – perfectly-proportioned, simple and cool – but new design ticks and an in-house automatic caliber work to keep things fresh. It's the subtle use of colour that singles out Nomos pieces as design classics in the making, and here it's the yellow dots and gently rounded numbers that add serious style points. We'll take two.

THE ROSWELL is visually a very distinctive piece, combining a box crafted from wood with a spacecraft-inspired aesthetic for a super-cool result.
